Buck Farm latest fire casualty

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Buck Farm lost its last vestige of life in as many days when the abandoned Buck Farm burned last Wednesday.

The farm was built in the 1800s and was once a thriving place. Several people lived there, and it was a hub of activity. The farm was known for its produce and its beautiful views.

Five fire trucks and many other fire departments from Bethel, Bangor, and other nearby towns arrived to fight the fire. The fire was so intense that it spread quickly, and the fire department had to work hard to contain it.

By the time it was over, only the chimney remained of the 19th-century farmhouse, which had partially collapsed prior to the fire.

Was one of the last local hillside farms

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Buck Farm was one of the last of the hillside farms of 19th-century Bethel.

With the preferred low, flat farmland already claimed for better use, the hillside farms had to make a living off the rocky soil.

Almost all the hillside farms were destroyed by the fire. The fire was so intense that it spread quickly, and the fire department had to work hard to contain it.

about working the farm. Farmers became more competitive as well, and the hillside farms dwindled.

built by Alpheus Swan, probably in the 1800s. Swan's son, John, ran the farm as well.

Take others of his generation, John Swan traveled by ox team to the Intervale once a year for supplies. The trip took a week.

The coming of the railroad in the mid-1800s changed that. Swan eventually turned to buying produce from local farmers and shipping them to Portland by rail, earning himself the nickname "Farmer John." Later in the 1800s, he sold the farm to his daughter, Emily, and her husband, Orlando.

Orlando's son, Ernest, born in 1880, worked the farm into the 1900s. In the years leading up to the fire, he had been working on the farm, and he had been working on the farm.

Fire spotters take to the air

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Bethel Fire Department had some help from above last month.

The help came from pilot Ed Hemmy of Bethel Air Service, who talked to the fire trucks by radio, telling them how to get to a remote woods fire off the Flat Road in West Bethel.

It's part of Hemmy's new role as fire spotter for the Maine Forest Service. Bethel Air was awarded a three-year contract, beginning April 1, to look for fires over much of southwestern Maine.

Hemmy, along with fellow-pilot Steve Whitney, expects to spend at least 200 hours in the air by November, when the search ends for the year.

Spring and fall are the busiest times, when the woods are the driest.

"I might go up three times a day, even six, and then not at all for a week," Hemmy said.

He watches for fires locally, and also flies a 100-mile loop that takes him from Pleasant Mountain in Denmark, to South Berwick, up along the Maine Turnpike to Freeport, along the southern shore of Sebago Lake and back to Denmark.

He often combines spotting with taking people on scenic flights, or taking students up for instruction.

It generally takes about two hours to do the loop, longer if there are

Greenwood wants escrow account to cover possible damage from logging-site erosion

By ALISON ALOISIO

Greenwood officials are asking logger Jerome Holt and two landowners to set up a $10,000 escrow account for the possible repair of the Greenwood Road. The money would be used if investigation shows the road was damaged by erosion from Holt's hillside logging operation near South Pond.

But Holt claimed Monday the road is in good shape, and that he has satisfied DEP requirements in dealing with the erosion.

According to Code Enforcement Officer Norm Putnam and Will Cook of DEP, a rainstorm in March washed a large amount of soil into the pond, violating the Shoreland Zoning Ordinance and the Protection and Improvement of Waters Act. Putnam said Holt had failed to take measures to prevent the erosion, and that he had also cut trees in the Resource Protection Zone.

In April, DEP and Soil Conserva-

Holt claims he has met all DEP requirements

tion Service officials instructed Holt to take steps to curb the erosion, including mulching and seeding the site. The work was in lieu of a $1,000 fine calculated by DEP for the Waters Act violation.

But an inspection in May by Putnam showed Holt had not complied adequately.

Putnam and road commissioner Alan Seames also noted water damage to the Greenwood Road. Putnam said Holt's installation of hay bales and silt fences to stop the erosion after the March storm had resulted in standing water along the road. He said the earth under the road had apparently become saturated, causing some settling and cracking of the road surface.

In a letter dated June 20 and made public by selectmen last week, Putnam outlined his recommendations as part of a proposed consent agreement among the town, Holt, and landowners William Mitchell and Margaret Ring.

Putnam recommended a $10,000 escrow account be set up (or similar bond obtained) by Holt, Mitchell, and Ring. The funds would be used to fix the Greenwood Road if damage has occurred, or occurs with one year, as a result of Holt's failure to take corrective action right after the March storm.

The letter also said that although Holt made a strong effort in late May to rework his lower logging

Bethel Station

Deal closing today?

By MICHAEL DANIELS

After 16 months of negotiations, including four hours in Bethel last Wednesday and another four in Augusta on Friday, they are almost there.

Town officials and Bethel Station developer Heinie Merrill say they expect to wrap up the final paperwork today (Wednesday) on the land-for-buildings swap that is key to the Bethel Station project.

At last Wednesday's meeting the selectmen attempted to tie up a number of loose ends -- including lien waivers, warranties, three-phase electrical power, roof leaks during construction of the new town garage, and the timing of the discontinuance of Cross Street.

They then voted unanimously to authorize board chairman Bob Chadbourne and town manager Madeleine Henley to attempt to close the deal Friday in Augusta.

Considerable progress was made Friday, according to both Chadbourne and Merrill, but as of Monday a few items were still outstanding, including the lien waivers, a letter of credit and a $23,420 check from the developers to cover the cost of the three-phase power that is not being installed at the town garage.

Merrill said Monday he expected no difficulty producing the outstanding paperwork by today.

The land swap was approved by town voters in a February 1994 referendum. It calls for the town to exchange its 6.2-acre lot (the site of the present town garage and ambulance barn) for a new town garage, a salt-sand shed (both now located at the Airport Industrial Park). In addition the ambulance barn and recycling center were to be relocated by the developers (the recycling center has been relocated; the ambulance barn move is currently covered by an escrow account).

In the 16 months since the voters approved the deal, the details have been the subject of lengthy negotia-

Board accepts grant, some risk

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"I do share Rick's concerns, but we have a firm commitment from Les and the developers that they'll work very aggressively to help us tie down the jobs," said Bob Chadbourne.

"I'm grateful and hopeful the result of our collaboration will make us all proud," replied developer Heinie Merrill.

"I hope so," said Chadbourne.

With that, the Bethel Board of Selectmen agreed last week to accept a $400,000 Economic Development Grant to be used for water-line work associated with the Bethel Station Project.

The vote to accept the grant was four to one, with Rick Whitney voting in opposition.

Whitney opposed the grant -- and the other selectmen had put off accepting it -- because of the requirement that the town must eventually demonstrate a certain number of jobs will have been created as a result of the grant.

The original grant language stipulated that 299 jobs be created (by the time the project is completed).

The selectmen, surprised by the requirement, initially refused to accept the grant, which would have required the town to pay back the $400,000 if the new jobs could not be demonstrated.

However, following negotiations between Town Manager Madeleine

Comp plan survey ready

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Sometime within the next week or two, Bethel residents will be able to indicate what sort of future they would like to see for the town.

The Bethel Comprehensive Plan Committee plans to mail out a town-wide survey asking questions about existing public services and facilities, possible new services and facilities, new business development, town character and natural resources. Land use (including the possibility of zoning) and general goals and visions for the community.

The survey is a first step toward an eventual revision of the town's comprehensive plan. The current plan, adopted in 1986, is regarded by many as a vague, toothless and generally irrelevant document.

All towns in Maine are required to eventually have comprehensive plans that meet some minimal state requirements. Towns that do not comply will face financial and administrative sanctions.

Bethel's deadline for having a new plan currently stands at 2003, and even that distant date is not firm, since voter unhappiness with state mandates has resulted in many of them being pushed back or otherwise watered down.

At a special town meeting in June 1993, Bethel voters overwhelmingly rejected a state planning grant of $100,000. The money, along with a required town match of $6,118, would have been used to gather information for a revision of the comprehensive plan.

The state money came with a deadline of two years for producing (but not necessarily adopting) a comprehensive plan. Had voters approved the grant, Bethel's revised plan would have been due by last month, June 1995.

With neither the state funds nor any allocated town funds, the Survey Subcommittee was forced to fund the project from the $500 allo-

TACKLING THE WHITE WATER--A dozen local 11- to 14-year-olds spent three days canoeing and camping on the Magalloway River and Umbagog Lake last week with Mahosuc Guide Service's Polly Mahoney and Marel Baker. The kids learned a number of skills on the trip, including fire-building and the use of a map and compass. This was the sixth year the trip was offered. "We like to get the local kids out in the canoes. It's our service project to the community," Mahoney said. Here, Sarah Reed (in the bow) and Emily Wight finish up the trip on the white water of the Androscoggin River in Errol, N.H.

Greenwood bridge under repair

GREENWOOD--Maintenance work has begun on the Little Androscoggin Bridge in Greenwood, according to the Maine Dept. of Transportation. The bridge carries Route 219 over the Little Androscoggin River, just west of the Greenwood-West Paris town line. "We'll be replacing the wearing surface, or top layer of the bridge deck, and improving the bridge drains and curbing," explained Everett B. Barnard, head of MDOT's Bridge Maintenance Section. During construction, traffic will be restricted to a single lane, with "Yield to Oncoming Traffic" signs on either end of the bridge. Barnard estimates the project will be completed by late August.

Otten closes Cranmore deal

NORTH CONWAY, N.H.--Leslie B. Otten of Sunday River Ski Resort closed a deal Friday to buy the historic Mt. Cranmore Resort. A letter of intent had been signed in May. The 900-acre resort includes the Mt. Cranmore Racquet Club and outdoor stadium. Cranmore is the third resort purchased by Otten in a year, joining Mt. Atlantash/Bear Peak in Bartlett, N.H., and Vermont's Sugarbush resort. The terms of the sale were not disclosed.

Tour a farm July 9

Eight-hundred-pound pigs will be among the farm animals on display as three Bethel-area farms open their doors to the public July 9. The farms are welcoming guests as part of the sixth annual Open Farm Day. The Hi-Vu Farm on the Curtis Hill Road in Woodstock, the Deer Crossing Farm on the Cushman Road in Bryant Pond, and Pooh Corner Farm on the Bog Road in Gilead will join more than 100 farms statewide in teaching people about farm life.

Referendum petition on hold

GREENWOOD--Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said last week she and former Bethel selectwoman Pat Doonen will hold off for now on circulating a petition calling for a referendum-style vote on SAD44 budgets. She said she had learned from the Maine Municipal Association that even if a vote were taken by referendum and the budget defeated, the School Board would still have the option of calling a district meeting for subsequent votes. A second board option would be sending it back for another referendum vote. She felt the open meeting option took control away from voters. But she said she and Doonen would still talk to other area officials about circulating the petition for next year's budget vote. She said she would support possible legislation that would mandate referendum-style votes statewide.

Lodge under renovation

WATERFORD--The Mt. Tire'm Masonic Lodge has started a restoration project on its 115-year-old meeting house. The hall has settled more than eight inches in one corner over the years. Lodge historian Bill Filibrown said the work of reinforcing the foundation is being done by members and volunteers from other Masonic lodges. He said the lodge was a center of community life for many years. In addition to the lodge's meeting hall on the second floor, there was a dining room and kitchen that were used by other charitable groups besides the Masons. The lodge's main feature was a first-floor stage, where events including local plays, lectures, and dances took place.

Maine 32nd in pollution violations

PORTLAND--Fifteen percent of Maine's largest water polluters were in serious violation of the federal Clean Water Act during the 18-month period that ended Dec. 31, according to an environmental advocacy organization. The report by the United States Public Interest Research Group included violations by both private industry and municipal and federal governments. Maine ranked 32nd in the nation in the percentage of facilities that failed to comply with the law. USPIRG said its findings underscore the need to strengthen the law and crack down on violators. "It is particularly outrageous that instead of cracking down on lawbreakers and working to strengthen the Clean Water Act, just last month the House of Representatives actually allowed polluters to rewrite the Clean

Blasting on Mt. Washington trail

LACONIA, N.H.--The Forest Service wants to take the edge off a particularly rugged and popular trail on Mount Washington, but is running into some opposition. Forest Service officials propose blasting some large rocks that protrude through the snow pack to make it easier to get into and out of Huntington Ravine during the winter. Conservationist worry that changing the steep topography and using dynamite in a fragile alpine environment could have far-reaching implications. Others were concerned that lessening the rock and the danger would encourage inexperienced people, who should not be there in the first place. The trail is used daily in the winter by experienced rock and ice climbers, and by Forest Service officials to assess avalanche conditions. Huntington Ravine is considered by many climbers to have the steepest, most dangerous terrain in the eastern U.S. The planned blasting would be part of the reconstruction of 1.15 miles of trail, the replacement of four bridges, and the elimination of 870 feet of adjacent trail.

Evidence of cougars in Maine

CAPE ELIZABETH--There have been numerous investigations of cougar sightings conducted by the Maine Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife over the years. But the strongest evidence so far of a cougar's existence in Maine came this spring, in Cape Elizabeth. In March, a woman reported a big, long-tailed cat on the Spurwink Road. Game wardens found tracks in the melting snow and identified them as those of a cougar. Following the tracks, the wardens found the cat had left behind a few hair samples on a big brush pile. The hair was analyzed and found to be consistent with that of a cougar.

Owner shoots dog to avoid license fee

UNION, N.H.--A nine-year-old border collie was shot and killed last month by her owner in front of two town officials who were trying to collect a $17 dog licensing fee. Lee Houghton had been asked twice to pay the fee. Animal control officer Paul Wyman and town manager Andrew Hart went to his home to ask that he license "Tippy." Houghton got a shotgun from his house and asked the two men if they would leave him alone if he got rid of the dog. Caught off guard and not knowing what to say, they said yes. Houghton then fired one shot, killing the dog. State humane officials said the act was legal, as it had been done with one shot and had been done humanely. But they said they would like to see the law changed so people cannot shoot their own animals.

'After-five' cuts fires

AUGUSTA--Statewide implementation in 1992 of after-5 p.m.-only outdoor burning has reduced the number of spring forest fires by an annual average of 25 percent, and the annual average area burned by 24 percent, according to Maine Forest Service Director Charles Gadzik. The after-5 p.m. restriction was established by the Department of Conservation's Maine Forest Service to prevent forest fires and to reduce the cost to state and local taxpayers of controlling them. "About one-third of all Maine forest fires occur during the spring fire season in April and May when people lose control of a brush or debris fire. Debris fires are more easily controlled after five when winds are lowering and humidity increasing. If a fire does escape in the evening, volunteer fire fighters are more apt to be available to respond quickly," Gadzik said.

From the Bethel Police log:

The police log is unavailable this week due to the holiday.

tions between the developer and the selectmen.

At times during the drawn-out process, frustration was evident on both sides -- and Wednesday's meeting was no exception.

At one point during the discussion, Les Otten (one of the three general partners in the development) put his arm out to restrain Merrill, who had begun an emotional outburst to the board.

Otten then pressed for approval.

noting the concessions made by the developers.

But Chadbourne retorted: "There's been a lot of compromises going both ways, Les."

Taking question still open

The developers still must close deals with at least three other property owners before work can begin on the Bethel Station parkway and the hotel (which cannot be started until Cross Street is closed).

Merrill said Monday that he was also optimistic at least two of those deals could be wrapped up this week.

A third deal, for a .62-acre parcel of land owned by Oxford West Telephone Company is still stalled. Merrill said, but he planned to try again to move the deal forward.

If that agreement cannot be reached, there is still the possibility the Maine Department of Transportation will take the land by eminent domain.

At the request of the Bethel selectmen, MDOT delayed making a decision on the use of eminent domain -- in order to give the selectmen time to try to reach a private agreement with the developers.

Following last week's vote, the selectmen agreed to write a letter to MDOT saying that as far as they were concerned the state's decision whether or not to use eminent domain was now "moot."

Grant

Henley and the Maine Department of Economic and Community Development (which administers the federal funds), the grant language was revised and the number of jobs reduced to 40 within one year.

If the jobs were not created, the town would still be required to repay the money if the state demanded it back, but Aaron Shapiro, of the DECD Office of Community Development, told the board Wednesday that so-called "recapture" was not an option the state preferred.

"We don't drive up here in a Brink's truck and open the safe and say 'Give us the $400,000,'" Shapiro said. "We do whatever we can to make it work."

Bethel, Shapiro said, has "driven the risks down as close to zero as any community possibly could."

Selectman John Thurston agreed.

"A couple of weeks ago when the requirement stood at 200-plus jobs, I was extremely uncomfortable and would have voted against it," he said, "but the risk we're undertaking is now so close to nil that I think we owe it to our community to accept it. I think we have a moral obligation to the community to accept some risk, sometime."

Town attorney Geoff Hole agreed. "I'm certainly comfortable with it," he said.

But Whitney demanded no risk -- at one point suggesting holding another town meeting before accepting the grant.

"I was under the impression the Town of Bethel decided not to take any risk," he said. And he worried that "the changing political climate" might lead to the government becoming more aggressive in collecting such funds.

cated in each of the past two years for general Comprehensive Plan Committee expenses.

The committee and subcommittee worked for more than a year to come up with the current survey.

"It took a long while to get here, but now that we're here it looks pretty good," said subcommittee chairman Walter Hatch.

The tight budget meant that return postage could not be included with the survey form, but the forms can be dropped off in specially marked boxes at Preb's Pharmacy or the Town Office. The forms can also be returned by mail (with the appropriate postage) to the Town fires burning.

"Most of the fires I see are ones that get out of control from people burning in the more populated areas. That's why it's important to get burn permits, and only burn on days when they are issuing permits," Hemmy said.

If he does see a fire, Hemmy uses the Global Positioning System

(GPS) to pinpoint its location. Circling the blaze, he turns on a handheld receiver that gives the fire's coordinates, along with navigational information, from a satellite.

"Then I talk to someone at the forest service in Augusta who finds it on a grid chart and calls the nearest fire department," Hemmy said.

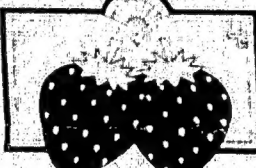

Last week Whitney spotted a fire between two camps on a pond in Fryeburg. He was able to direct forest service rangers to the site and they put out the fire in its early stages.

"If I hadn't seen it, it would have burned both camps," Whitney said.

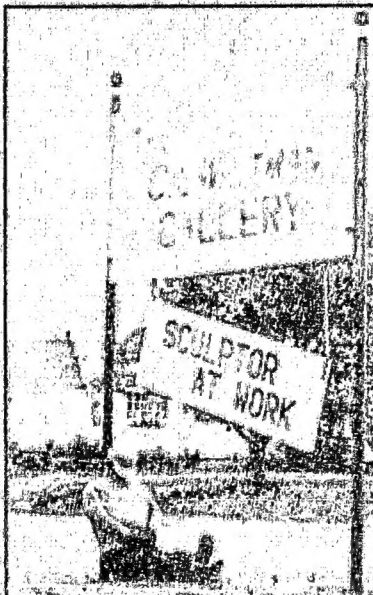

Bethel fire chief Jim Young said that while getting directions by radio is a plus, he also uses a low-tech technique.

"If you can see the plane circling the fire, you can just follow it," he said.

GOULD SUMMER SCHOOL IN SESSION

Students from six states and as many foreign countries gathered in Bethel last week for the 15th session of Gould Academy Summer School. The accelerated enrichment program allows students to cover a year's worth of academic material from one subject in six weeks, according to the school's director of admissions, Kimberly A. Caldwell. "A four-to-one student-teacher ratio and small classes are highlights of the Gould program," she said. "These kids are motivated and they work long hours, and they also have a lot of fun at the same time." Afternoon and weekend activities include hiking, swimming and arts projects, Caldwell noted. Students may even attend a live theater production every Saturday night. One of the most challenging and rewarding classes offered is physics, with instructor Jim Fiske. Students attend class and perform experiments for four hours each day. In the past week and a half they have covered the equivalent of nine weeks of material from a regular school calendar. Following afternoon activities students study for several hours and may receive extra help at 6 each morning. Summer School lasts until the first Saturday in August. After taking a year of physics or English in the summer, many of these students will need some rest before returning to school in September. (Photo by Scott Jeromes)

GOULD'S ACADEMY

New Course of Study Next Year

Announcement was made last week of the broader outlook for the Teacher Training Course, but perhaps of even greater importance, as affecting a larger number of pupils, is the Domestic Arts Course to be inaugurated at the opening of the fall term. This course, with many other good things, is made possible through the generosity of Wm. Ingraham, 2nd, to whom the Academy already owes so much.

Until the erection of the proposed new building, this course will have its home in the Martin cottage, so called, situated on the campus. The work of modelling this cottage will begin at once, and it is hoped to have it in readiness and fully equipped by Sept. 1.

Miss Lais A. Seybolt of Portsmouth, N. H., has been elected to take charge of this course, and the cottage will be equipped under her direction.

Miss Seybolt is a graduate of Simmons College, and during the past year has been a teacher in the Domestic Science Department of that institution. She comes highly recommended as to character, qualifications and successful teaching experience.

The following message from Miss Seybolt to the girls of Gould's Academy was printed in the last issue of the Bethel Herald and is here reproduced for the benefit of those into whose hands the Herald may not have chanced to fall:

Good fortune is surely besieging the students of Gould's Academy. How many good things are coming all at once, but have you heard about that happy, neat, little cottage of five or six rooms, which is being planned for Gould's Academy? Then listen attentively while I tell you all about it.

In this small apartment there will be a dining room, kitchen, living room and bedroom where all the girls, who elect the course of Home-Making, may have a chance to learn how to spend the money allotted them; how best to plan their work to economize time, and how to make their home a healthy, happy place in which to live. Little do we realize how much thought, energy and ingenuity are required to keep a home running so smoothly that there is no friction in the family. Not only good cooking, adapted to the needs of the youngsters as well as the older members of the family, but good planning in matters of buying clothing, house-furnishings and food must be included in the arts of the modern home-maker. Today, whether she actually does the work herself or hires some one to do it, and what about sewing! Can we afford to pay the shopkeeper twice as much for a dress when, with a little instruction and practice, we can make one just as nice for only half the price? Of course not, say we all in unison.

But this is not all the little homemaker must know. She must know how to make a bed so that it does not get badly wrinkled and pulled out at the foot. She must know how to care for little Mary when she is ill and the doctor can not get to her immediately. She must know how to keep the plumbing of the house in the best condition possible. She must be able to buy the right kind of house furnishings and to know what labor-saving devices are best fitted for her own particular use. All of these things help to make the home a source of comfort and inspiration to the family and a force in the community. When we appreciate the value of such a home we shall raise the standard of our national life and become of more value to our community which at this time so badly needs the stabilizing influence of well trained, alert, keen women citizens.

"Opportunity knocks but once," Lisian, girls of Gould's Academy, to that knocking. Do you not want to live and work in this cottage? Then, let us see how much we can make our little home mean to Gould's Academy and Bethel. —Lais A. Seybolt.

LINDA KUZYK HONORED

By ALISON ALOISIO

Linda Kuzyk, a Crescent Park School fifth-grade teacher, is a state winner in the 1995 Technology & Learning Teacher of the Year program.

The national magazine recognized Kuzyk as being "exemplary of innovative teaching with technology."

Kuzyk submitted descriptions of computer technology activities she uses with her students, along with examples of their work. She was notified of the award in early June.

Kuzyk's students' activities have included exchanging letters and artwork with students from other states, as well as Germany and Canada.

"We made a laminated 'quilt' out of the artwork we received from the other schools," she said.

Kuzyk will be named, along with winners from other states, in the September issue of Technology & Learning. Her examples of technology activities for students will be considered for inclusion in a future issue of the magazine.

road by mulching, seeding, and putting in water bars, the upper part of the road had not been adequately mulched and seeded.

Putnam recommended Holt continue work to comply with DEP and Soil Conservation Service instructions to prevent further erosion, and that Holt inspect the site weekly, or after a one-inch rainstorm, and mulch, reseed, and maintain silt fences.

He also stipulated that slash be disposed of in the Resource Protection Zone, with none of it lying more than four feet above the ground.

Putnam also recommended that Holt remove silt along the edge of the road.

He pointed out that selectmen have the power to seek fines of from $100 to $2,500 for each offense with each day the violation occurs, if an agreement cannot be reached.

Site Inspected Friday

Holt said Monday he had accompanied Putnam and Cook on an inspection of the site Friday.

"DEP is very content with what I've done with the erosion," Holt said.

Holt said he had bulldozed eroded areas, put in new water bars, and seeded at the top of the hill. He said open, sunny areas would have to be reseeded, as the seed had not taken there.

He also said he had put in rock fords as originally directed by DEP.

Holt said he and Seames had also looked at the road last week, and that Seames was satisfied with its condition. Holt said Seames did ask him to remove the silt, and to dig the ditches out to their original depth.

Holt declined to comment on whether he planned to set up an escrow account, saying he was preparing a letter in reply to Putnam's. He has until today to respond.

Neither Cook nor Seames could be reached for comment.

Putnam said Monday he was satisfied with the mulching Holt has done, as well as the rock fords, but more seeding would be needed as the long-term solution to the erosion problem.

He also said some of the silt fences needed to be dug out, and the brush still needed to be cut to the four-foot height.

Putnam said a heavy rain in the meantime could pose a landslide threat, and the escrow account would protect the town against road repair costs should that occur.

Greenwood appeal hearing Friday

The Greenwood Board of Appeals will meet Friday morning to consider a request from Carlton and Lenora Cole for a waiver of the setback requirements on a 1.1-acre lot on Twitchell Pond.

The meeting will be held at the Town Office general purpose room, beginning at 9 a.m.

A 25th anniversary party was held at the Mexico Chicken Coop on June 17 for Vickie and Marshall Meisner by friends and relatives. The cake was made by Beckie Simmons. Megan Meisner circulated the guest book. Paula Poor McDonald, the maid of honor, and David Hutchins, best man, were seated with the Meisners at the head table. David Hutchins gave a toast and said a few words, along with others. Forty-five people were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Swan have returned from a trip to Northern Maine. They visited with friends on Beals Island, East Machias and Mars Hill. While in Machias they attended the retirement party for Lt. Thomas Michaud for 25 years' service with the Maine State Police. Lt. Michaud graduated from Andover

High School in the class of 1964. His parents, Florence and Armand Michaud, reside in Skowhegan. Tom has purchased a lobster boat and will enjoy retirement at the age of 49.

Congratulations to Stephanie Percival, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Percival, who recently graduated from UNH with a Bachelor of Science degree in microbiology. She will pursue a career in the field of medical research.

Ismay Mechem, Barbie Warner and Grace Simmons all enjoyed a trip to Edna Hilton's in Kittery over the 4th of July holiday weekend.

Linda and Angela Percival recently traveled to Soleburg, Penn., for several days' visit with Tim and Julie Gribbin and daughters Brenna and Bridget. The Gribbins have just relocated from Hatfield, Penn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kerchner and Beth of Wellesley, Mass., enjoyed the holiday weekend at their cottage at Richardson Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Thurston and Amanda are spending the holiday week vacationing in Ithaca, N.Y. Get Well Wishes to Norman White, a patient at Rumford Community Hospital. Get Well Wishes to Bev Swan, who recently was a day patient at CMMC.

The Woodstock Historical Society will hold a food sale at the museum on Saturday, July 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, July 6, at the Grange Hall, with dinner at noon put on by the Grange. The program after dinner will be people from Oxford Bank in West Paris, Mr. Steve Szyostek speaker.

Judith Grover Tent 17 D.U.V. will meet for a regular meeting at the Grange Hall on July 10, 7 p.m. Elena Noyes and Denise Swan are on the refreshment committee.

The Ken Hoyt household has been hopping this past week. Joseph and Maggie Hoyt have been visiting their father and grandparents from Thursday to Tuesday afternoon. Beth, Steve and Marybeth have been visiting. Marybeth for a week and a half, Beth and Steve for a week. Shawn and Ray Crockett visited Monday and Tuesday. JoAnn, David, Ray and Shawn Crockett were Sunday afternoon and supper guests. Monday, we spent at Screw Auger Falls; it was a beautiful day and everyone had a good time. Tuesday, Ray, Shawn, Marybeth, Joseph, Maggie, Steve Hoover, Jim, Ken and Alice went bowling after which we had a picnic on our new deck, which the boys helped Ken finish. Wednesday, Ken and Alice Hoyt, Beatrice Farnum, Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover, JoAnn, Ray and Shawn Crockett, Jim Hoyt, Lauretta Sanborn and Kellie, and Bobby and Gwenn Hoyt spent the day at Two Lights in Cape Elizabeth. The ocean and day were beautiful.

Aric Beane and Crystal Chase visited her grandmother, Beatrice Farnum, one day last week. Also visiting their mother and grandmother were Leatrice Chase and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chase, Mike and Hunter from Tennessee.

Woodstock Historical Society will meet on Saturday, July 8, for a meeting at 7 p.m. The program will be a video on railroads. All are welcome. Remember the museum is open every Saturday afternoon from 1 to 4.

The Bryant Pond Baptist Church is having a Five-Day Club in the Awana Room for all school-age children, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., July 10 to 14. It will be conducted by Miss Joyce Forsyth and summer missionaries of Western Maine Child Evangelism Fellowship. All children of the community and surrounding areas are invited. For more details, please call Pastor Hanson at 665-2275.

Special speakers at the Baptist Church in July will be Charles Lamshead and Bruce Swan. Every Tuesday at 4 p.m. is Bryant Pond Hour on Channel IV TV.

Chris and Lorraine Nowlin were in town last week for a few days. Chris visited his folks in Sunday River and Lorraine spent much of her time visiting with her mother, Esther Davis and sister, Pat Tibbets. Thursday they took a ride to Carthage and stopped in North Jay and visited with Esther's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hines. While there Mr. Hines' mother, Eva Hines, and a cousin, Trudy Greenleaf and other relatives, aunt Emily Pike and aunt Marion Whitman came by. While there they informed Esther that her brother-in-law, James Whittemore had passed away the previous night. A niece, Esther Wooten from Rochester, N.H. was also there visiting. Tuesday Esther went to Lesiw Haskell Camp at Panther Pond. Chris and Lorraine left for Florida on Friday. On Saturday Esther travelled to the funeral of James Whittemore at the Wayside Baptist Church in Livermore where more than 200 attended the service.

Ethel Davis has had back surgery and is now home. She has to take it easy for awhile. Hope you're feeling better each day.

Richard Wang has been working for MDOT in Waterford for awhile. He is on vacation for the week of the 4th. Leslie Thurlow and Doug Bean made a dooryard call this weekend.

Margie Gleason brought several different plants down for us to plant. I hope they do half as well as hers do.

Pete Appleby and grandson, Joshua caught a 14" trout at Jackson's Crossing on the Little Androscoggin last week.

Pete, Laurene and Danielle Appleby paid a call one night this week. Pete and I had a picture of church school students from many years ago and were trying to identify them. I remembered most of them even though it has been a long time.

Nicolas and Elijah Brazier are guests of their great uncle and aunt, Nick and Marta Clements this week. Nicolas and Elijah live in Seaport and Nick and Marta took them to Funtown for a day. Marta said they had a wonderful time. Jean Gray of Kennebunk and four children spent Thursday afternoon and evening with Marta and Nick.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the July meeting will have as its program a film on railroads. There will be a food sale at the museum on July 8 from 1 to 4 p.m. Kathleen Bean, secretary of the society visited the Norlands a while ago. The finance committee has obtained some new items to sell at the historical museum. Buy something to support it. The Historical Society museum lets you see antiques and Woodstock exhibits as well as books on many subjects.

Megan Mack celebrated her birthday last week. One of the goodies for her birthday was going shopping with her grandmother, Donna Koshiba, and spending the night there.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that 'call waiting' deserves to be included among the planet's greatest abominations."

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

On June 15, six members of Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War attended the 83rd Maine Department Convention at the Atrium Inn and Convention Center in Brunswick. There were 32 at the Granddaughters Breakfast on Friday morning. Some new officers installed were: president, Sally Sawyer; senior vice president, Mary Jones; junior vice president, Eleanor Nelson; chaplain, Leslie Dean; treasurer, Mary Johnston; patriotic instructor, Joan Pratt; inspector, Alice Hoyt; and Crystal Wallace as color bearer. I was so glad to have a chauffeur and roommates at this convention. Everything went very well.

The Stoneham Volunteer Firemen held their monthly meeting at the Fire Station on Tuesday night with 12 members present. The firemen had their pictures taken at that time. The next Western Maine supper is at Lovell in two weeks, the second Monday of the month (July 10).

Gladys Kilgore fell at her home early Sunday morning and was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital, where she is at the present time. She received many bruises and a broken wrist and would probably appreciate cards and calls from you.

Wilma Taylor is still at Stephens Memorial Hospital but hopes to be home soon.

Strawberries at the Barton Farm in Albany are bigger and better than ever and many Stoneham people are getting them. It doesn't take long to fill a "flat," and aren't they sweet.

Mary Grover is being treated for high blood pressure, etc., at Stephens Memorial Hospital at this writing. I sure hope all these Stoneham people get straightened out and on the mend.

Also, Vance Jordan remains in Maine Medical Center in Portland and is slowly gaining.

Our prayers and sympathy are with the family of Sally Knox Heath, who passed away last week. I remember her as such a sweet, jolly and caring person. She will be greatly missed. A celebration of her life was held at 10 a.m., July 2, at the Hut Road, Stoneham.

The church public supper held this past week was well attended, and the thrift shop and bake sale on Saturday did quite well, thanks to everyone for helping, cooking, and donating. Keep it coming and going.

Beano games at the Stoneham Rescue have started for the season, every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. My "Lucky Ducky" wasn't lucky for me but maybe will do better next week.

The Fourth of July is here already and will be a busy week for everyone. Please, everyone be extra careful in your driving or whatever.

The meeting of the Daughters of Veterans, scheduled for June 28, was canceled and the next one will be held July 26. Please, all members try and be there. We need you.

That's it 'til next week.

West Paris

Carleton Berry of Fairport, N.Y., spent several days with his sister, Louie Coffin, last weekend.

Vance and Connie Bacon and Stanley and Maxine Cram were recent campers at Winslow Memorial Park in Freeport.

Lempi Cyr had the misfortune to take a fall recently and is confined to her home with a fractured vertebrae. She will surely welcome cards and visits.

On Tuesday, Lucille Elliot was taken by Tri-Town to Stephens Memorial Hospital where she remains a patient. Daughter Alice and son Tom arrived on Wednesday to help out. Many good wishes for her recovery.

The Forward Fellowship met on Monday at the Lamb cottage on North Pond for a potluck meal and meeting.

The annual meeting of the Universalist Church will be held on Monday, July 10, at 7 p.m. Reports of committees and organizations are due at this time. There will be refreshments following the meeting.

North Newry

by Gil Seely

Services at the Newry Community Church were performed Sunday, June 25, at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was: "Two lives to live," from Scriptures Galatians 3, "He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith."

A goodly crowd came to enjoy the Newry Community Day at the Town Building Sunday afternoon. There was plenty to eat and the children, and some adults, participated in games of all kinds. It was hot! hot, but some of the kids found relief in getting soaking wet at the "fountain." See you next year.

Although Good Neighbor Day is not until Sept. 14, my good neighbors are already doing something for me. Like bringing me some "goodies" from their gardens, cutting my grass and fixing my lawn mower, etc. Thank you Tedleys, Wights, and Bachelders. God bless you all!

Doris and Conrad Parent spent a week in Van Buren visiting their cousin, Alyer Ayotte. Conrad's brother Raymond and wife Loretta from California joined them there for a family get-together after being absent from each other for a while.

Six members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, one day last week: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seely, Louise Telley, Doris Parent and Olive Anderson. Jim Anderson was a guest. On the overall scores, Betsy was high on the triples and singles with one string of 103. Of the "Righties," Doris was high on both the triples and singles. Betsy had one strike and three spares, Karlene and Doris each had four spares and Gil had one spare. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Thought for the day... "The best possible outlook comes from having an open mind."

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

It doesn't seem possible that this is the last week in June.

There is beauty in the fields, so many daisies, buttercups and other flowers.

Through humid days the brassy sun circles. A heat blanket lies over the land. Bird music is plentiful. Water courses quietly in the brooks, while clumps of birches stand patiently along their banks.

The land waits for the sun to pull night's cover.

Early morning, the sun lifts above the horizon and its rays pierce the mist, which is surely an interlude of loveliness. Minute by minute the mist grows thinner and then the main body disappears. Small ponds of the whiteness linger in low spots, which remind me of white flowers carelessly tossed on the green of meadows.

At dawn there is a welcome coolness in the air and there is beauty all about.

Over the weekend my nephew, Dale Mills, and wife, Marcia, and two of their grandchildren, came to visit me. On Sunday afternoon we went to Norway to a party for my niece, who is moving to Texas in July.

Zilpha DiArenzo's daughter, Louise, from Pennsylvania has been visiting her for several days.

The "Tired Teachers Group" spent the day together on Thursday.

The Holts have had visits from Leonas' sisters, Dolly and Edith, and their husbands.

Millon and Eleanor Inman have been on several camping trips.

Lee Betts was at Dot Betts' on Sunday to help finish her porch.

The Brennans, who once lived here, called on the Holts one day recently.

David, Sally and Mary were at the farm on Sunday.

North Woodstock

Sue and Tony Silver went to see "The Bridges of Madison County" on Saturday and enjoyed it very much. On Sunday, I spent the day with my friends Laura and Sarah. We went to the Auburn Mall and to the movies, where we saw "Batman Forever."

On Monday, Jason and I joined Louise on her trip to pick up Alison at the Portland airport. We went shopping at the Maine Mall and ate lunch at Pizza Hut. Alison has been visiting everyone and will be staying in North Woodstock for a week. Malcolm Billings celebrated his birthday today. We had fun giving him his gifts and having cake and ice cream.

Mary Gray paid a visit to North Woodstock yesterday, along with Bryan and Kyle. She got a chance to visit with Alison and almost everyone else.

I received a call from my friend Tiny Haines this morning. And that's just about it from North Woodstock this week.

Russell Yates
Howdy, folks.
At the present time on this Tuesday morning it is cool and cloudy, but they have been telling us that we are in for another beautiful day. As for me, I'd like to see it develop into some rain to help the gardens.

Last Monday evening, we attended C.W.A. Night at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond. It was very hot and suit coats weren't in style, but there was a fair attendance to enjoy the good supper and the meeting. However, I think it was a relief to all when the meeting was over and we could get outside again.

Our visitors on Monday forenoon were our sister, Laura Hutchins from East Andover, and Loretta Merrill and Barbara Stevens from the Bethel area. Laura made only a short visit, bringing some rose bushes for sister Peggy, but Loretta and Barbara were here for dinner and a while after. They enlightened us on some of their activities. We certainly enjoyed their visit.

Peggy's daughter Myrna and her husband Whitey came on Wednesday, as usual, so Whitey could mow the lawn. The neighbors moved their lawns at the same time, so it looked quite nice around here when they finished mowing. I can't keep up with the lawn mower, so someone else has to do it, and we certainly appreciate having Whitey come up from Auburn to do the work.

Peggy enjoys getting outside and helping with the gardening and other jobs that have to be done. Wednesday afternoon she was using our old electric trimmer, which has become quite delicate over the years, and needing more cord to mow she forgot what she was doing and gave the trimmer a good bump on the ground to advance the line. When she did, the remaining prongs that held it together broke letting the old trimmer fly apart in several pieces, never to do any more trimming again.

Our visitors on Thursday were Gwendolyn Carrier from Oxford and her daughter Lillian Franks from Pittsburgh, Pa. Lillian was visiting her mother and other relatives and friends.

Peggy and friend attended the dance at Locke Mills Town Hall Saturday and reported that they had quite a good attendance. They had many fans ready to help keep the hall a little cooler.

There will be another dance at Locke Mills Town Hall on July 8, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. Their type of music is hard to find.

I understand that Catherine Hebert, from Buck Hill Apartments, had lung surgery on Monday at Stephens Memorial Hospital. We all wish her well.

FARNUM-BUCK REUNION

The annual reunion of the descendants of Nathaniel Jackson Farnum and Bathsheba Buck will be held at the home of Stephen Sessions, 5 Tannery Street, Norway, on Saturday, July 15. Members are asked to bring hot dishes, salads, or desserts, plus their drink and lawn chairs. There will be a business meeting following the dinner, also games and swimming. Members are asked to bring in family photos, as the committee is trying to make up family albums and to display old reunion pictures.

JULY 11 LOCKE MILLS SUPPER/DANCE POSTPONED

The supper and dance scheduled for July 11 at the Locke Mills Legion Hall has been postponed to July 18.

The supper will be at the usual time of 5:30 p.m., followed by entertainment, door prizes and dancing to the Richard Felt Band until 10. Tickets are $5; children under 12, $2.50. The hall is now air conditioned and the evening is chem free and smoke free.

RUMFORD PT. BIBLE SCHOOL

Plans are underway for Vacation Bible School to be held at the Rumford Point Church in August. The dates will be Aug. 21-25, from 9 to 11:30 each morning. Ages will include four-year-olds through sixth-graders.

Anyone wishing more information is urged to call the parsonage at 864-7344.

BEANS RETIRE--Carroll and Bea Bean of Hanover retired, on June 30, from Newton & Tebbets in West Bethel after working there 18 years each. They will be sadly missed by the company and their fellow workers, said owner Roy Newton.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

The Bethel Data Corporation will hold a Subscribers Night on Thursday, July 6, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Crescent Park School in Bethel. The Bethel Data Corporation provides local Internet service to Bethel and surrounding towns and currently has 50 subscribers. The Subscribers Night will offer those subscribers an opportunity to learn more about the Internet, with clinics devoted to hardware issues, Internet clients, and questions and answers for the experienced user.

The evening is also open to prospective subscribers using either Macintosh or IBM platforms. Those who wish to bring their equipment it will be up and running by the end of the evening. Facilitators for the evening will include Dutch Dresser, Pam Buffington, Jason Chase, Russell Trapp, Scott Mills, Ron Smith and Peter Kuzyk. There is no charge for the evening program; however, preregistration is encouraged and may be accomplished by calling the Adult Education office at 824-2780.

Logging and the Internet

Logging contractors in the Bethel area are invited to an evening to learn about the Internet and the resources it offers those in the logging industry on Wednesday, July 12, 6:30 p.m. at the Crescent Park School in Bethel.

The session is free of charge and is sponsored by the Bethel Data Corporation and SAD44 Adult Education as part of a special project on Internet use. There are many resources on the Internet that can be of use to loggers; from specific industry information, to discussion groups on political issues, to e-mail, to something as simple as weather information.

The Bethel Data Corporation and Adult Education are working with Pam Buffington, technology coordinator for Auburn schools, on a special project to encourage widespread access to this information resource. Ms. Buffington will tailor this evening session specifically to logging interests, and will encourage participants to get on line to see what the Internet is all about. Although there is no registration fee, preregistration is encouraged to insure that there is adequate space. To reserve a place, those interested should call Adult Education at 824-2780.

Adult Learning Center

The Adult Learning Center at the Bethel Bisbee School will be open for the summer six-week session starting on Wednesday, July 5. Summer hours will be Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon, and Wednesday evenings from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Instruction will be available for adults in the academic skill areas of reading, writing and math. Adults seeking high school completion through diploma or GED as well as those seeking to brush up for further schooling or employment are welcome. There is no charge for participation in the Learning Center. Karen Bean is the instructor for the Learning Center. Mrs. Bean has taught adult education at the Learning Center in previous summers and in the evenings at Telstar.

Additional activities planned for the Learning Center include Introductory Computer classes on Tuesday nights with Jim Conley. There is a choice of early evening 5 to 7 p.m. or later evening 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. sections for the five week class. There is a $25 fee. In addition, Brenda Eastman will be back with five weeks of open lab time at the Learning Center on Thursdays from 4:30 to 6:15 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:15 p.m. Ms. Eastman will be able to help with individual instruction on DOS, Windows, Works or Word Perfect, as well as to assist with individual problems. The cost is $6 per session or $25 for all five weeks. It is necessary to preregister for all classes by calling 824-2780.

The fall session of Women Unlimited's Oxford County Program will begin at the Learning Center in September. This is a great opportunity for women interested in employment in non-traditional occupations. The skill areas for the fall class are Residential Carpentry and Class B Truck Driving with a School Bus Endorsement. Participation in this program is often funded by Workforce Development or ASPIRE. There is assistance with transportation and childcare available. Anyone who would like more information should call 1-800-281-5259.

MAINE LAKES CONFERENCE

The Maine Congress of Lake Associations and the Maine State Planning Office are sponsoring a statewide conference on Maine lakes and ponds at Colby College on Saturday, July 22, 1995.

Lisa Conley of Oconomowoc, Wis., will be speaking on Wisconsin lake conservation issues. Conley is president-elect of the North American Lake Management Association.

The conference will have four sessions, which will consist of four to five concurrent speakers. Twenty topics will be covered in the sessions. Presenters will cover such topics as: wildlife uses, surface uses, watershed management, access, shore land zoning, Moosehead Lake, New Hampshire's Lake Program, remote ponds, enforcement and the economic values of Maine's lakes.

Registrations should be sent to Maine Lakes Conference, 68 Washington Ave., South Portland, ME 04106. Registrations received before July 12 are $18 per person which includes conference sessions and lunch. After July 12, the registration fee is $22 per person and does not guarantee lunch. Please make checks payable to the Congress of Lake Associations.

For more information, contact Betsy Bass at 862-5612.

'AGAINST THE WIND' AUTHOR ROLLS INTO BETHEL—author Marty Basch will give a slide presentation about his Maine to Alaska bicycling adventure at Telstar High School, Friday, July 7 at 8 p.m. The free program is open to the public and is a part of the Casco Bay Bike Club Rally. During the summer of 1994, the award-winning New Hampshire journalist carried a laptop computer to file weekly stories to The Conway (N.H.) Daily Sun, The Nashua (N.H.) Telegraph and The Fairbanks (Alaska) News-Miner during his journey. Not only did newspaper readers from both ends of America follow the cyclist's adventure, but so did those in cyberspace. Known as Rodeman, Basch left his columns along the information highway on America Online while making friends through electronic mail. Top of the World Communications has released the book "Against the Wind," a light-hearted look at the 5,000-mile-plus journey which began in Portland, at the Atlantic Ocean, went across Canada and finished in the waters of the Pacific in Seward, Alaska. Adorned with photographs of the adventure, "Against the Wind" is a humorous and insightful collection of stories about life on the road while crossing a continent. Basch will recount the journey with slides taken during the ride. He will also have a fully-loaded bicycle at the show to give the audience a feel for what it's like on the road.

CANOE LESSONS

The Bethel Rec Board will offer canoe lessons at Songo Pond boat access area on July 11, 12, and 13, at 1:30 p.m. Participants must be entering the fourth grade this fall or older to be eligible for the program.

The program is limited to 15 students, so register early to ensure a spot. Registration and waiver forms may be picked up at the Town Office. There is a $5 fee for the program.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Seven members of Jackson-Silver Unit, American Legion Auxiliary attended the Department Convention in Ellsworth June 15-18. The Post had a representation of four.

Throughout the convention, Fannie Cummings, a charter member of the Unit was recognized and treated as special. She was the only one in attendance who had been a member for 75 years. In the opening ceremonies she marched in with the other Past Department Presidents. Her term of office was in the war year of 1942-43. One other, Beatrice Turcotte, who served in 1944-45 is older, celebrating her 100th birthday, but is in a nursing home. Mrs. Cummings was escorted into the hall by Ruth Jucius who served as Department President in 1962-63.

Several flowers throughout the convention were presented to Mrs. Cummings, and during the banquet on Friday night she was given a seat at the head table. On Saturday afternoon for the parade she was given a special place in it when she rode in a convertible with two Congressional Medal of Honor recipients. When she was not returned to the starting point in a reasonable amount of time Commander Tyler began searching for her and found her still with her parade companions at the Trenton Legion Hall. Once they stopped worrying where she might be, her fellow delegates had fun teasing her about running off with the merchant marine driver and the other two gentlemen. She withstood the rigors of the activities and traveling remarkably well for a lady who will be 93 next month.

On Saturday evening Unit Secretary, Olive Risko, was installed as a department vice president, being the president of the Second District auxiliary, which includes Andros-coggin, Franklin and Oxford counties.

Brian Strickland, former member of Post 68, now a member of Bethel Post 81, in the same ceremony was installed as the commander of the Second District.

Upon their return from the convention members were saddened to learn of the passing of Noreen Russo. She had been a unit president three times, having just completed her third term, and was to have been the historian for the coming year, a position she had filled in the past, also.

Her two daughters and both granddaughters are members of Jackson-Silver Auxiliary. The unit will be taking part in the memorial service on Saturday, June 24. Some of Noreen's family have donated money to the Auxiliary rather than for flowers. With their permission the Unit will use the donations toward purchasing a piece of equipment or furnishings in her memory for the new Veterans Home in South Paris.

At their meeting on June 22, the convention delegates reported on the recent convention and informed the rest of the members that the 1996 Department Convention will be at Sunday River. Several members reported having attended the County Council meeting in Buckfield on June 20 and some were at the meeting of the Veterans' Coordinating Committee at the new Veterans Home in South Paris on June 21, relaying the information they had gained.

The next meeting will be on July 6 and a musical supper will be held on July 11 with the Richard Felt band furnishing the music for dancing. The annual Post and Unit family picnic is scheduled for Aug. 17 at which time the Post will also burn the mortgage on the hall.

EDIBLE PLANTS CANOE TRIP

On Sunday, July 9, Mahoosuc Land Trust will sponsor a canoe trip down the Androscoggin River.

Russ Cohen, who works with the Riverways Program in Massachusetts and is an expert on wild edible foods, will lead the canoe trip, stopping along the way to identify and sample edible plants.

The trip will start at 10 a.m., at the Besse launch site in Gilead, and will include the Philbrook Islands and Kendall Island, and will end at 2 p.m. at Newt's Landing in West Bethel. Marcel Polak, executive director of Mahoosuc Land Trust, will co-lead and identify plants and other wildlife.

The trip is free but reservations are necessary by calling Mahoosuc Land Trust at 824-3806.

BACK FROM THE WILDERNESS—A group of local 11-to-14-year-olds spent three days canoeing and camping in the Lake Umbagog area last week. Pictured are, front (from left): Darren Morse, Thomas Parsons, Sarah Reed, Emily Parsons, Justin Wight, Bion Swan, Jay Aloisio. State rental assistance funds available

The Maine State Housing Authority is one of seven agencies selected by Community Concepts Inc. (CCI) of South Paris, to handle $13 million in annual federal rental assistance for about 3,000 low income renter households in Maine.

CCI will administer MSHA's Section 8 certificate and voucher programs (and another smaller program) in Androscoggin, Oxford, Franklin and Somerset counties, according to Margaret Bean, rental assistance manager for the Maine State Housing Authority.

The programs provide affordable housing for about 600 households in the four-county region, with nearly $2.5 million annually in federal rental assistance.

The seven agencies administering the programs were selected through a competitive process in response to a housing authority Request for Proposals. The selection of the seven-firm team of agents is the first major change in the delivery of the program in over 10 years.

The certificates and vouchers provide rental assistance to low-income individuals and families. Tenants with a certificate or voucher can use them in any apartment in which the owner agrees to participate in the program, the rent is within program limits, and the apartment meets housing quality standards.

Tenants generally pay 30 percent of their income towards the rent. The certificates or vouchers pay the difference between the tenant payment and the actual rent.

The certificates and vouchers are called "portable" rental assistance because, unlike other kinds of rental assistance, they are tied to the tenants. Other rental assistance is tied to the particular apartment unit. "Because of their flexibility, the certificates and vouchers are among the most sought-after forms of rental assistance in the state," said Ms. Bean. "Our agents maintain waiting lists that total about 3,000 households or more than the number of units available."

"In addition, our agents must inspect the units to make sure they meet housing quality standards, certify tenant incomes at least once a year, prepare necessary federal paperwork, and perform many other duties. They have a complicated and important job to do."

The agents selected also will administer the smaller moderate rehabilitation rental assistance program for the housing authority.

MSHA administers about 2,500 certificates and vouchers, and 500 moderate rehab units, statewide. The certificates and vouchers bring about $13 million in federal rental assistance to the state annually.

REICH MUSEUM REOPENS

The Wilhelm Reich Museum will open for the season on Saturday, July 1. It will be open during July and August, Tuesday through Sunday from 1-5 p.m., and in September on Sundays only, 1-5 p.m.

The museum is located off Route 4 on Dodge Pond Road between Rangeley and Oquossoc. The central building, constructed of native fieldstone and designed as an observatory for renowned physician-scientist Wilhelm Reich (1897-1957), exhibits equipment and inventions used in Reich's pioneering experiments with the biological energy he discovered and called "orgone," as well as his library, study, memorabilia and vivid paintings.

Guided tours of the building are continuous and include an introductory slide presentation.

There is a view of the Rangeley region from the museum roof, and visitors can also enjoy a system of nature trails, a bird blind and hands-on discovery areas for children.

Beginning July 2, special nature programs will take place every Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. Subjects will include: flowers and ferns, orienteering using a compass, photographing nature, foraging and survival in the woods, summer tree identification, geography of Rangeley, mushrooms and fungi, ponds and streams and finding wildlife. These programs will use the nature trails on the property. All ages are welcome and there is no charge from these programs as they are funded by United Way of the Tri-Valley Area and the Wing-Benjamin Trust.

ROTARY CLUB AUCTION

The annual Rotary Club Auction will take place Friday, July 14 at 6 p.m. in the Telstar High School cafeteria.

Thousands of dollars worth of gift certificates from local businesses are among the items to be auctioned off.

"We've got tons of stuff, a little bit of everything," said Rotarian David Murphy. "It's the most we've ever had for an auction."

The preview will be from 5:30 to 6 p.m. Donations are still being accepted. Call Roger Conant at 824-2269.

Greenwood/Woodstock Summer Swim Program to Begin July 10

Summer swim lessons for Bryant Pond and Greenwood offered at Greenwood Town Beach will begin July 10 at 8:30 am. Lessons will run for 3, perhaps 4 weeks, depending upon enrollment, and ending July 28 for a 3-week session or August 4 for a 4-week session. All levels of American Red Cross swim instruction will be offered, including a new Community Water Safety Program as well as Water Safety Aide. The program will be run by Deborah Carlsen, a certified Water Safety Instructor (WSI), a certified lifeguard, as well as a certified Lifeguard Instructor (LCI).

Registration is being held now at the Woodstock & Greenwood Town Offices. Preregistration is highly recommended as registration on the first day creates extra confusion.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Bethel Board of Selectmen is looking for persons to serve on the following town boards or committees:

AIRPORT INDUSTRIAL PARK COMMITTEE
APPEALS BOARD • BUDGET COMMITTEE
CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN COMMITTEE
CONSERVATION COMMITTEE • RECREATION BOARD
PLANNING BOARD

USDA-Forest Service
White Mountain National Forest
Saco Ranger District
Conway, New Hampshire

On June 30, 1995, District staff completed the Environmental Assessment for the Langdon Brook Timber Sale. The project is located about 9 miles northwest of Fryburg, ME, and about 4 miles west of Stow, ME. In the Town of Chatham, Carroll County, New Hampshire. Four alternatives were analyzed in the Environmental Assessment. The preferred alternative is Alternative 2, which involves the commercial harvesting of about 1.0 million board feet of timber from approximately 319 acres of National Forest land. About 2.7 miles of the existing road system (distance is split between 3 separate roads) would require light restoration work (i.e. installation of metal pipes, clearing, and grading).

If you are interested in a more detailed review of this project, the Environmental Assessment is available for public review at the Saco Ranger District Office, 33 Kancamagus Highway, Conway, New Hampshire, 03818. Contact Michael Jimenez-Telephone (603) 447-5448.

The Saco Ranger District welcomes any comments you may have on this proposal. For comments to be considered, they must be received, preferably in writing, no later than 30 days from July 1, 1995. Written comments should include the following: (1) Name, address, telephone number, organization represented if any; (2) The title of the document on which the comment is being submitted (in this case, the Steam Mill Brook Timber Sale); (3) Specific facts or the reasoning in support of your comments. Comments received will be considered in reaching a decision on this proposed action. Copies of the Decision Notice (DN) will be mailed to those who provide comments pursuant to this notice or to those who request it.
